

Sexual and reproductive healthcare training – e-SRH

High-quality e-learning for doctors, nurses and other healthcare professionals

- Covers varied aspects of sexual and reproductive healthcare (SRH)
- Interactive content with case studies, virtual clinical consultations and questions
- Developed by the UK Faculty of Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare and Health Education England e-Learning for Healthcare

This award-winning programme explores a whole host of SRH topics, including contraception, sexually transmitted infections, psychosexual problems and legal issues.

e-SRH, which is suitable for a very wide range of healthcare professionals, has been developed with the Faculty of Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare (FSRH). The themes are relevant to healthcare professionals globally.

This e-learning is available online so you can study at home, in the workplace or even on the move – fitting the training around your busy professional life.

key features at a glance

- Comprehensive training
e-SRH provides structured learning on sexual and reproductive healthcare. It can be used for initial training or as a refresher on key themes.
- Multi-professional use
The programme is suitable for doctors, nurses, pharmacists, health visitors and other healthcare professionals working in sexual health, general practice, obstetrics and gynaecology.
- A high-quality resource
e-SRH has been written by a multidisciplinary team of clinical experts so it meets the highest quality standards. It is regularly reviewed and updated to reflect the latest clinical practice.
- Interactive features
e-SRH offers highly engaging e-learning – with video clips, animations and questions. This helps to foster deeper understanding on key concepts.
- Practical applications
Using real-life case studies, you can apply the learning to practical situations in your everyday work.
- An award-winning resource
e-SRH has won a major UK award for excellence in learning and skills – testament to the high quality of this programme.
- Flexible learning
You can access this e-learning online – studying at your own pace and in your own time.

In partnership with:

The content includes a variety of interactive features. For example, you can watch a video showing how to insert and remove an intrauterine device or a clinical consultation between a doctor and patient discussing contraception options.

Real-life case studies provide valuable insights from patients and fellow professionals – which you can apply to your everyday work. Self-assessment exercises also test your understanding of key concepts.

Wide-ranging applications

e-SRH is designed for healthcare professionals working in sexual health, general practice, obstetrics and gynaecology. For doctors and nurses, e-SRH forms the initial part of learning for the FSRH's Diploma in Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare and the Letters of Competence in Subdermal Implants and Intrauterine Techniques. More broadly, the programme provides a first-class learning resource for all healthcare professionals globally.

High-quality content

You can select individual modules that are relevant to your specialty or areas where you need further training. You can track your progress online and download or print off certificates on completion.

e-SRH has attracted widespread acclaim, including a UK e-Government Award for Excellence in Learning and Skills. The programme has set a gold standard for healthcare

e-learning in the UK and it is now available worldwide.

PURCHASE NOW

“ This comprehensive programme features high-quality, interactive content and real-life examples that can be applied to your everyday work.

It has revolutionised training in sexual and reproductive healthcare in the UK and is excellent preparation for the FSRH Diploma.”

Dr Asha Kasliwal,
President, FSRH and Clinical Director/
Consultant in Community Gynaecology and Reproductive Health

course content

e-SRH comprises the following course modules:

- Principles of Service Provision
- Basic Anatomy and Physiology
- Risk Assessment and Sexual Behaviour
- Pregnancy
- Psychosexual Medicine
- Sexual Assault
- Screening and Vaccination Programmes in SRH
- Contraceptive Choices
- Contraception: Managing Side-effects and Complications of Use
- Emergency Contraception
- Testing for Sexually Transmitted and Genital Infections
- Problem-based Approach to STI Testing
- Testing for HIV and Blood Borne Viruses
- Partner Notification
- Additional Training in Subdermal Contraceptive Implants (SDI)
- Additional Training in Intrauterine Contraceptive Methods (IUT)

Take a look at some sample sessions.

Learners outside the UK can also register for a separate International Certificate of Knowledge in Sexual and Reproductive Health. This has tailored content for international audiences based on FSRH guidance and standards. Full details are available on the FSRH website.

